RUN-OFFS SLATED IN ALL BUT ONE RACE

Bids Opened On Doctor's Clinic

The Elba Hospital Board is shown above as bids were opened Monday afternoon on construction of a new medical clinic for Dr. Jim Boyce who will begin his medical practice in Elba in late September. The Board has solicited bids from all building contractors licensed in Elba but only Elba Construction Co. (Bobby King) and Russell Construction Co. submitted bids.

Low bidder on the building was Russell Construction Co. with a bid of $33,770 with the heating and air conditioning or $31,320 without the heating and air conditioning.

Chairman Drexel Cook informed the bidders present that Russell was low bidder and that a contract would be let within three days, after the board determined that this price, the paving and furnishings did not exceed the budgeted $48,000. Money for the construction is being furnished by National Security, Elba Exchange Bank and The Peoples Bank and will be repaid from lease payments paid by the user.

Performing Arts Subject Of Scout Trip

Melanie Rainer and Sheila Horstby left Friday for Cleveland, Ohio where they will spend several weeks studying the performing arts. They will attend a performance of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, the great Martha Graham dance, productions of "Romeo and Juliet" and "No, No, Nanette" and have the opportunity to talk with professionals in various artistic fields.

Lynn Hudson has just returned from Pennsylvania where she attended an event

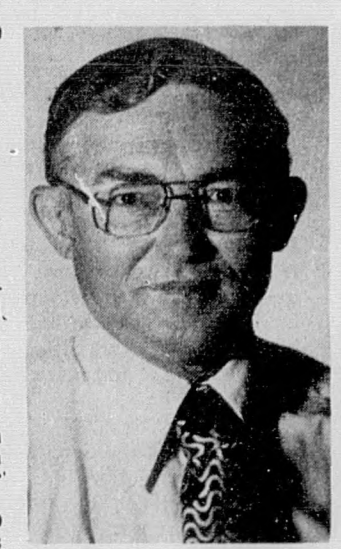

In the local city elections Tuesday, 1976 people registered to vote and an additional $3 cast absentee ballots for a total of 1452 votes cast. This is a record for Elba voters in city election.

The voters expressed varied opinions on who should serve at city hall for the next four years by splitting the votes enough to cause run-offs in the mayor's race and four of the five council spots. The only race decided decisively was the election of appointed incumbent John Wayland Sharpless over two opponents. Sharpless tallied 713 votes, while Charles Kennett registered an even 500 and Hoyt Rhoades 154.

There were a number of voters who didn't vote in every race but the mayor's race attracted the most voters with 1452 votes counted. Place one in the council race attracted 414 voters, the most of any council race and the Place two race that Sharpless won outright attracted the least voters by a hair with 1367 votes cast. At press time it is assumed that all the number two challengers will exercise their right to a run-off. Incumbent Charles Ellis has already announced that he will remain in the Place Three race.

The girls are members of Troop 300 which boasts a membership of only six members. Their acceptance as event winners put their troop in the unusual position of having one half its members attending these summertime wide opportunities.

The National Girl Scout Council, Mrs. Robert Cannon is their senior troop advisor.

McAliley Named As District Judge

By CYNTHIA MADDOX

Gary McAliley was sworn in as Coffee County's new district judge Tuesday, after being approved for the position by the Coffee County Commissioners. District Attorney Lewey Stephens went before the Commissioners during their regular meeting with a recommendation from the Alabama Bar Association. The bar recommended McAliley and Braxton Rowe as candidates to fill the position left vacant by newly elected Circuit Court Judge Terry Butts. Rowe had declined the offered position prior to the commission's voting.

McAliley, elected as district judge in the May primaries, would have assumed the duties of this office in January.

JUDGE McALILEY - JUDGE BUTTS

In other commission proceedings, Byron Galloway and Don Smith made a request to table the bids for the additional construction and furniture for the Driving Academy in Enterprise until the next meeting. The motion was accepted.

Judge Terry Butts came before the commissioners requesting funds for the purchase of equipment for the circuit judge's office. According to Butts, the state makes no appropriation for office equipment to be used in the circuit judge's office.

A final decision was made for the county to purchase the furniture for Judge Butts and let it remain the county's property.

The Supreme Court has ordered the distribution of some funds left over under the 1974 Bill-Burton Act. Coffee County is eligible for some of these funds.

The county health department, informed the commission of some funds available to Coffee County.

Elba Band At Livingston Band Clinic

The Elba Marching Tigers left Elba on Monday, August 9th to attend Summer Band Camp at Livingston University.

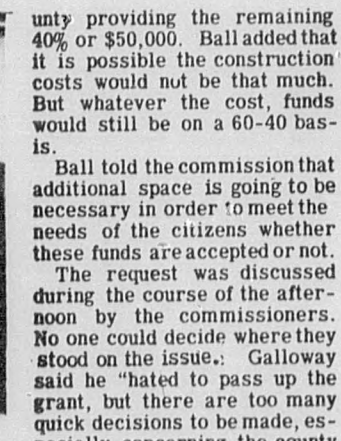

While there the Band will work many hard hours a day to perfect their marching techniques they are so amply noted for.

The Band is under the direction of Band Director Bob Stump and Assistant Director Brian Maxwell.

A number of young people from The Sound Of The South Band of Troy State University are assisting in the training of the band members.

Chaperones are Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Jo Fuller, and Mr. Bill Bullard.

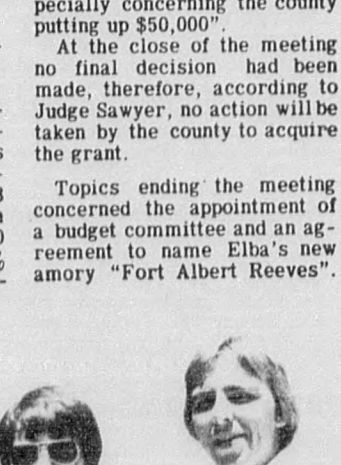

The Band will be returning to Elba on Saturday afternoon August 14th.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferris Cox

My election predicting is getting back into the expert (?) category it seems. Ye ole editor only missed predicting in one race during Tuesday's city elections. For the last several elections that I have made predictions, about half were wrong but this week things got better. More than likely it would be better for me to quit while I am ahead but those of you who know me doubt that will ever happen.

The hardest vote for me to cast was in Place three where I consider all three candidates qualified and personal friends. My mind was made up weeks ago but even after getting behind the curtain I wavered not because I didn't feel my candidate could do the job, but because I wanted to help the other two also. I stuck with my original decision but walked out wishing all three of them luck. Now, if that ain't confused voting, I ain't seen confused voting. The only relief I see now is that on September 14, I will only have to vote against one friend in that race instead of two.

We took some passport pictures some weeks ago for Jimmy and Mary Holley. They are on a trip to London, England at the expense of the Ford Tractor Company. It seems that the company had a contest back in the spring on selling tractors and the Elba Tractor Company won the trip. I am not sure how Jimmy got to take the trip, but since he is the president of the firm he probably had first choice to go. Anyway, they are winning their way to Europe with a bunch of other tractor dealers.

Last week there was a good bit of talk about the Senator Foshee seat and how it would be filled after he was sentenced. Well, none of the speculating figured a place in the race for his wife but she walked out of the courtroom with her husband and said she was a candidate. An insider had suggested this to me weeks ago, but I discounted it as just talk but... Mrs. Foshee has put Governor Wallace between a rock and a hard place. If he sets the general election soon and she gets the Democratic appointment, many will scream foul. If she doesn't get it others will yell foul. The safest thing for the governor to do is let us vote and then we can't blame him in any way for our problems. This is what folks talking to us seem to want in the first place... time for a Democratic primary.

I must salute my mother-in-law this week. She saved me from a disaster. Monday Hedy and I received in the mail a wedding anniversary card and I realized that she was right... sometime in August was our wedding anniversary but I had no idea when. There was a pit in my stomach that I may have already passed. It took a little research to find out that I have a couple of weeks yet to get things worked out just as I had planned it that way all along.

A local man and his wife were talking to me one day last week about my plans to do some late evening fishing that day. Now everyone knows that a fisherman doesn't tell about his unproductive fishing trips but in this case they told about his demand that I give a report on my success in the paper. Well, in answer to those demands, I didn't catch a single bass and I cast everything but the tackle box at those rascals.

Alabama's U.S. Senator

Jim Allen Reports To The People

When the Senate approved the Public Safety Officers Benefits Act and related legislation last week, it climaxed an effort that I helped start in 1972. More than 200 police officers and firemen are killed throughout the United States each year in the performance of their duties. In 1975, five Alabama police officers suffered violent deaths, and in the past five years 19 Alabama officers were killed in the line of duty. From 1970 through 1975 some 943 firemen lost their lives in this country while in the line of duty.

Public safety officers generally receive only modest salaries and are subject to high insurance rates, if they can get insurance at all, because of the constant risks involved in their daily work. Consequently, when a policeman or fireman is killed in the line of duty, his survivors suffer heavy economic and financial burden.

The legislative package which the Senate has just approved provides for a Federal lump sum benefit to the survivor or survivors of a public safety officer whose death was in line of duty. In order to assure security for their families, public safety officers will be able to purchase group life insurance or to join a local group life insurance plan already in existence, with the Federal Government paying one-third of the premium, leaving local governments and the officers to pay the remaining two-thirds if they desire to come under the program.

A third major point in the legislative package provides that if an officer is killed in line of duty, his dependents would be able to qualify for a higher education scholarship.

The Senate's action is a sound and humanitarian step that will boost the morale of those who put their lives on the line to protect the public, and I feel that it will encourage more good men and women to engage in these honorable professions while meeting some of the public's responsibilities to provide for the financial needs of an officer's family left to fend for themselves on the death of the breadwinner.

When honors are heaped on somebody, parents of that somebody are always proud as punch. But when high political honors are awarded somebody, and that somebody's name has had politics in her blood, both from heredity and then that mama is going to burst with pride. For a lifetime I'm that "mama" and that "somebody" is my daughter, Cornelia Wallace. I am really high on the "proud punch!" in an election year, the Democrat nominee together with the director of the Democratic Party, appoints a Presidential Election Committee. Naturally, they try to appoint the most political and savvy minds around. To be named to that committee is about the highest political compliment going in an election year, for it's that committee that plots the course and strategy for the Democratic campaign.

Jimmy Carter evidently has such a regard for Cornelia's knowledge of politics, he figured that committee could use her brains. Last week she received a letter from Robert Strauss, head of the Democratic Party, giving her the appointment. Cornelia was tickled pink.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

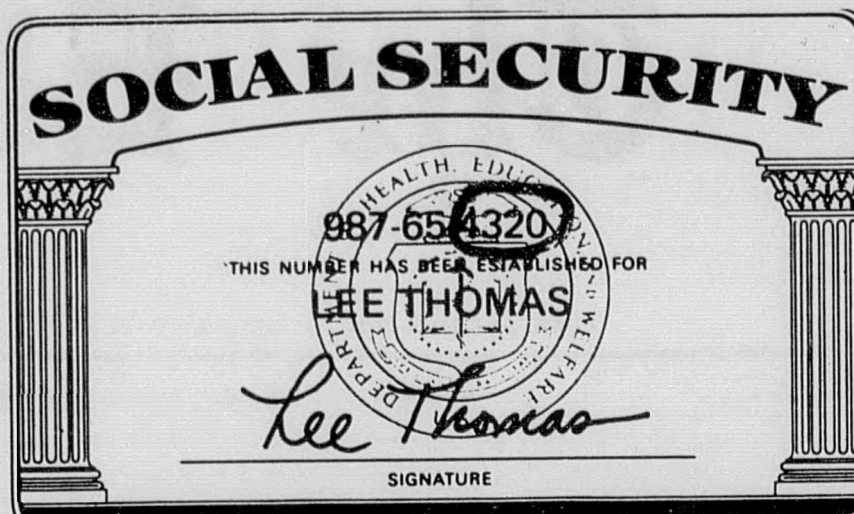

TO THE PEOPLE OF COFFEE COUNTY:

As all of you know, I've had some trying times and the only way I've made it was with your prayers, support and kindness, and for that I shall always be grateful. It has been my honor to have represented you for the last ten years. I know in many ways I've failed you and for that I apologize. For the things I've been able to do, let me say I'm proud. Through your support I was able to get in a fairly powerful position which I tried to use in the best interest of my district. I'm sorry that with your investment in me I wasn't able to do things which have needed to be done so long and for that I apologize. For having had the opportunity to represent you I'd like to say I thank you and ask that you give whoever represents you in the future the same support I've given me over the years.

The following is how I feel about you and indeed all of the people of Alabama:

IF I COULD I WOULD... If I could I'd make all the sick well. If I could I'd pave all the roads. If I could I'd build all new schools. If I could I'd stop all crime. If I could I'd raise your pension. If I could I'd make your life easier. If I could I'd lower your taxes. If I could I'd make you happy. We all... I couldn't. If I could I'd... Sincerely, Fred Foshee

Beck Descendents Gather For Family Reunion

The direct descendents of Charlie and Sarah Beck gathered on Sunday, August 8, for a small family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Wilson, Rt. 1, Glenwood. The Beck family, life-long residents of Crenshaw County, were the parents of six children; 3 sons, Bob, J.D. and Elbert, all deceased and of Brantley, and 3 daughters, Mrs. Mattie Lou Ennis, Haines City, Fl., Mrs. Annie Belle Burch, Elba, and Mrs. Fannie Burch, Lake Hamilton, Fl.

A delicious bar-be-que dinner was enjoyed by the approximate 32 relatives and friends attending. They included: Mr. and Mrs. Dan (Annie Belle) Burch, Miss Kitty Burch, Mrs. Patsy Jones and Damon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Steller, and Rick, all of Elba; Mrs. Grace Day and Miss Gayle Day, Opp; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Wilson and Becky, Mrs. Elbert Beck, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Beck and Kim, all of Rt. 1, Glenwood; Mr. and Mrs. Junior Beck, Marty, Mike and Ricky, Brantley; Mr. and Mrs. Fred (Fannie) Burch, Lake Hamilton, Fl.; Mr. Ryan Ward, Alexandria, Virginia.

How Good A Shopper Are You?

Being a good shopper depends on two basic things: Comparison shopping among stores and comparison shopping among items.

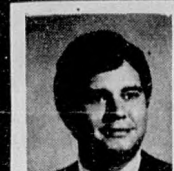

Do you know how to tell a good buy from a not-so-good one? Take this short quiz and find out.

Do you try to buy when the price is right? Often, lowest prices are on a weekend. But look carefully in a store for pricing patterns.

How do you choose citrus fruit? The best ones are heavy for their size, since weight is indicative of juice content. Skin should be thin and fine textured, and the fruit should be firm.

Do you look for specials on baked goods? Day-old baked products, especially breads and rolls are easily revived with toasting or re-

Cynthia Daniels, Edward Sellers Unite In Marriage

Miss Cynthia Gay Daniels and Mr. Edward William Sellers were united in marriage on Saturday, July 26 at 5 o'clock in the Tuskegee Institute's Chapel in Tuskegee, Alabama. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Tuskegee Institute.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Onnie Bell Daniels and the late Mr. Ben Daniels, of Elba, Alabama; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sellers of Montezuma, Georgia.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Chaplain Andrew Johnson, chaplain of Tuskegee Institute. Music was presented by Mr. Roy Hicks, organist and soloist of Tuskegee Institute, and Ms. Jasmine Lawson, soloist and cousin of the groom of Fort Valley, Georgia. Musical selections included "We're Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, wore a formal gown of white organza heavily adorned in clusters of Venice lace. The lace formed a high effect that extended into a chapel train which was completely edged in lace. The bride chose a full length veil of ivory.

blue tuxedos, white ruffled shirts edged in baby blue, matching vest and boutonnieres of white carnations tipped in baby blue.

The groom's ushers included: Mr. Gregory Crocker, Tuskegee Institute, Al.; Mr. Philbert Davenport, Tuskegee Institute, Al.; Mr. James E. Dawson, cousin of the groom from Fort Valley, Ga.; Mr. Charles Dorsey, Montezuma, Ga.; Mr. Willie C. Johnson, Tuskegee Institute, Al.; Mr. Craig Jones, cousin of the bride from Opp, Al.; Mr. Larry Screws, Washington, D. C.

They wore soft yellow tuxedos with white ruffled shirts edged in soft yellow, a matching vest and boutonnieres of white carnations tipped in soft yellow.

Flowers girls were Miss Misty Blackwell, cousin of the bride, Opp, Al.; Miss Kevelyn Lattice Miller, Tuskegee, Al.; and Miss Gayna Smith, Chicago, Illinois.

They wore soft yellow gowns of ultrase polyester. They were designed with short puffed sleeves, empire waists with lace around the sleeves and waist. They also wore yellow bonnets, emerald Jerald Maxie from Montezuma, Ga. served as ring bearer. He wore a baby blue tuxedo with white ruffled shirt edged in baby blue, a matching vest and a boutonniere of white carnations tipped in blue.

Mrs. Onnie Daniels, mother of the bride, chose for her daughters' wedding a soft yellow, poly, chiffon, sleeveless gown which featured a matching chiffon cape, gold accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Ruth Sellers, mother of the groom, wore a blue poly chiffon sleeveless gown which featured a matching chiffon cape, silver accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Tuskegee Holiday Inn. Hostesses included Miss Linda Carter, Tuskegee Institute, Al.; Miss Tammin Callins, Bessemer, Al.; Mrs. Julia Crocker, Tuskegee Institute, Al.; Miss Deborah Marshall, Hampton, Va.; Miss Carolyn Moss, Montgomery, Al.; Miss Karen Palmer, Newark, New Jersey and Miss Barbara Robinson, Tuskegee Institute, Al. They were alternating baby blue and soft yellow two piece tunic dresses and yellow wrist carnations tipped in blue.

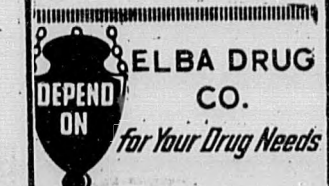

The couple spent their honeymoon in Panama City, Fl. and now reside in Macon, Ga.

The House That Service Built

Clear Creek Graduate Stirs Dust In Oklahoma

Ask the Rev. Paul Salter the secret of his church's success, and he will likely reply, "faith in God, and faith in people."

Salter's church, South Lindsay Baptist, Oklahoma City, Ok., by all rules of reason, should not be thriving; it is located in an old, mostly low-income area of southeast Oklahoma City and draws most of its congregation from that community.

With a membership near 1,300, it is one of the 10 fastest-growing Southern Baptist congregations in Oklahoma. Last year, it placed third among state Baptist churches in the number of baptisms, a denominational measure of good health.

When Salter took over the pulpit six years ago (after first politely refusing the invitation), the small, leaderless church seemed at a dead-end.

"I think the church should minister in its own community," said Salter, who stresses developing leaders among lay persons. "We feel God has a ministry for the poor people, the blue-collar people, and the rich people in our own community."

In the past few years, the South Lindsay congregation has bought $300,000 worth of property for future expansion, built a gymnasium-activities building to serve both church and community, and constructed a new parsonage.

Most surprising of all is the fact the church is debt-free. "I do not believe God has intended me to put the young people of this church in debt. We hire very few things done. If Noah built an ark, I believe men can build a church," reported Salter.

On the drawing board is a 1,500-seat sanctuary the congregation expects to build in the near future.

The church hopes to build a home to rehabilitate alcoholics and other down-and-outers, and an activities building featuring a bowling alley.

In 1964 he and his wife, Doris, and sons, Tim, then 7, and Greg, 18 months, headed for the Clear Creek Baptist School, Pineville, Ky., not far from Salter's hometown.

Salter got a job with a Pineville construction company and worked for three years while attending school. He served as a pastor on the weekend at several small churches and later was chaplain to 270 men at a nearby correctional institution.

Currently three men from South Lindsay Baptist Church are studying for the ministry at Clear Creek Baptist School, and the church supports Salter's alma mater by including the school in its monthly budget.

Newbie Revival

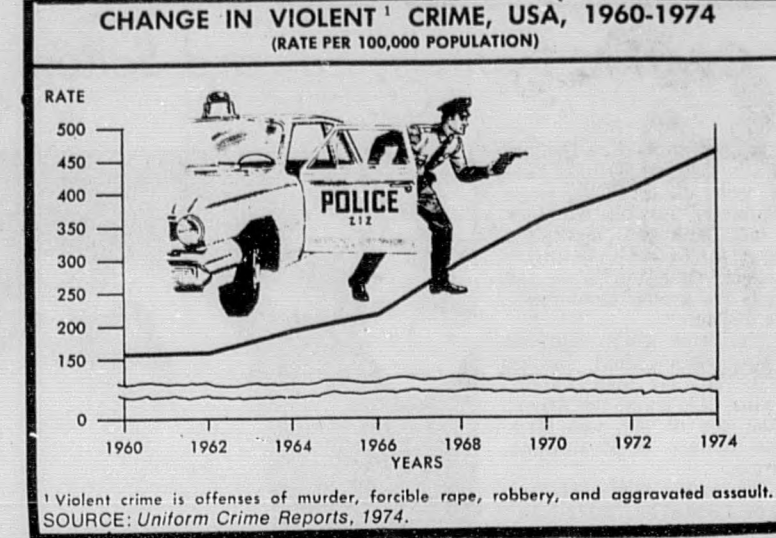

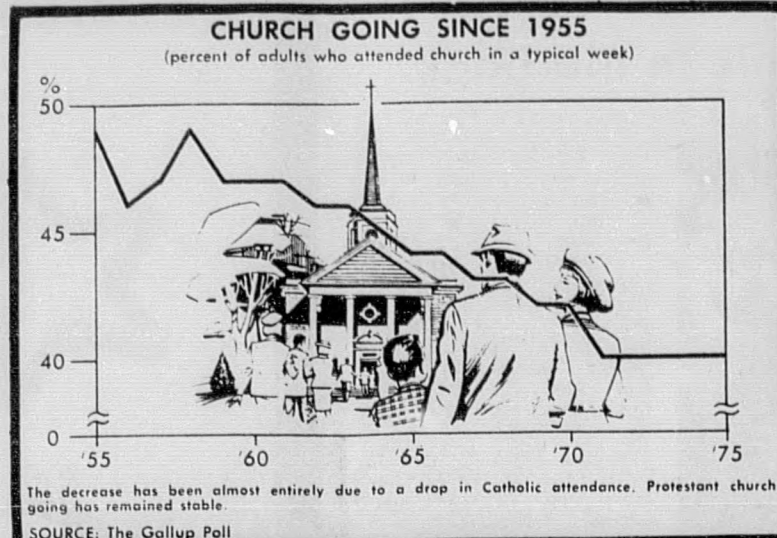

Revival services will be held August 15-20 at Newbie Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas. Evangelist Roland Pope, Jr., of Memphis, Tennessee, will be directing the morning and evening services on Youth Sunday, August 15. Pastor for the remaining services will be Rev. Bobby Driver of Northern Heights Baptist Church in Opp.

The services will begin at 7:30 p.m. each night. Dexter Williams will be the song leader.

First Assembly To Hold Revival

The Rev. Fred Mosley, pastor of the Clark Road Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas, will be conducting revival services at the First Assembly of God New Brockton, August 9-16. Services will be at 7:00 p.m. nightly, and 11:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. Steven L. Nolin, pastor.

The son of the late Claude Mosley and Mrs. Minnie Mosley, he was born and reared in the Mission's Crossroads community of Coffee County. His early education was in county schools. Pastor of a rapidly growing congregation in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Rev. Mosley is currently supervising construction of a new sanctuary and facilities for a Christian Day School.

PROVERBS 14:34
Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.

As the two graphs show in the past few years, church going is down. And just as church going decreases, violent crime has increased. Has America misused the freedom of religion and become a nation free from religion? No, there seems to be a new religion almost every month. But religion can be just a form of worship.

It's time your family stopped being just "Smith Harold" in the telephone directory.

The new edition of your telephone directory is going to press soon. If you have only a single listing, a lot of people are going to have trouble looking up other members of your family. Certainly, your wife deserves her own listing. And giving a teen-ager a place in the directory is a nice way of saying "You're growing up!" To add or change a listing just call our business office. They can tell you how little extra an additional listing will cost. It's as easy as picking up the phone.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. M. L. (Bonnie) Carroll

Funeral services for Mrs. M. L. (Bonnie) Carroll, age 72, of Rt. 1, New Brockton, who died Friday afternoon in an Enterprise hospital were held Sunday at 3 p.m. from the Bethany Baptist Church with Revs. Harry Rhodes, Dick Hayes and Q. P. Jones officiating. Burial followed in New Brockton City Cemetery with Seay's Brown-Service Funeral Home directing.

Survivors include her husband, Mr. Marvin Carroll, Rt. 1, New Brockton; three daughters: Mrs. Ted Vaughan and Mrs. Paul Stroud, both of Elba, Mrs. Joe Walls, Enterprise; three sons: Mr. Edwin Carroll, Enterprise, Mr. Harrell Carroll, New Brockton, Mr. Forrell Carroll, Montgomery; three sisters: Mrs. Jessie Trautman, New Brockton, Mrs. Ed Nicholson, Mr. Robert Nicholson, New Brockton, all of New Brockton; 12 grandchildren and 1 great-grandchild.

New Engineering Program At LBW

Beginning Fall Quarter a student can get a full two-year engineering program at Lurleen B. Wallace State Junior College. Engineering students will be able to transfer all credits and be classified as a Junior at Auburn University. For $202.50 plus books, a student can attend LBW for a year as compared to the estimated $2500 per year at Auburn.

Dr. Frank Lin, a civil engineer, has been employed to teach physics and engineering courses. Dr. Lin, a graduate of Yale University, has worked with Professor Daniel Jones of Auburn University in setting up the LBW program.

Employment opportunities in the engineering fields are very good, even though the rate of unemployment is still high in many career areas. A recent Exxon report stated that there will be a shortage of 10,000 engineers per year for the next ten years.

Although engineering has traditionally been a profession for men, more and more women are becoming engineers.

Students who would like to learn more about the engineering curriculum should contact Dr. Lin, Dr. Beck, Mr. Donaldson or Mr. Howell at the college. Each of these advisors will provide assistance to students in enrolling at the college and in obtaining financial aid.

Elba's WIC Program Praised For Contributions

The Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children in operation at Elba is one of three under the direction of Kenneth R. Ball, Health Services Administrator of Coffee and Geneva Counties, that are being praised as leaders in the Southeast.

Joseph R. Bryant, of the Southeast regional WIC office, points to the three programs as leaders in the Southeast in fulfilling the objectives of the program as outlined by Congress when the WIC program was created in 1972.

The WIC program provides iron-fortified cereals, eggs, fresh milk and juices to pregnant women, nursing mothers, infants and children who have been examined and approved by the health department. To become eligible, applicants must be examined and found to be nutritional risks because of poor diets or other reasons.

Administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service in cooperation with the Coffee County Health Department, the project at Elba serves over 700 people with an annual budget of around $275,000. Each recipient receives an average of $24 worth of food monthly.

Bryant feels that the success of the programs are due to Director Ball, the coordinator of the programs in both counties, Mrs. Ann Edwards, and the dedicated staff. Mrs. Kay Whitworth, secretary, and Miss Rita Hughes, nurse.

Instead of being just another food assistance program, WIC's efforts are coupled with those of the health department. All applicants are given a physical examination - he most important feature being a blood test, a history of spontaneous abortion, low birth weight and inadequate growth pattern are items also noted when considering applicants for the WIC program.

The Elba WIC program has been accepted as a valuable aid in raising the health standards of the community, according to Ball. Already its quota has been filled and there is a waiting list. "I am enthused over the WIC program," says Ball, "because it is designed to prevent mental retardation, deaths of mothers during childbirth and the numerous diseases caused by malnutrition."

Dr. Clay Wells, director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Care of the Alabama Health Department, shares Ball's enthusiasm for the WIC program.

In his opinion, the special foods that are dispensed to the women and children by WIC are merely the top of the iceberg when it comes to assessing the real value of the program.

For one thing, he explained, in the past far too many women never realized the importance of visiting the health center for prenatal care. Too often they waited until the third trimester of their pregnancies.

Now, with WIC as an incentive, they are coming to the center during the first three months of their pregnancies.

As a result, any diseases or problems are detected early and promptly corrected. Because of this, there has been a remarkable decline in the number of cases of toxemia, kidney poisoning and other diseases common to pregnant women who have neglected their health.

Ball agrees with Dr. Wells when he says that one of the most valuable dividends of the program is the change in attitude of women about health care. Once they come to the health center to inquire about WIC and become involved in the various tests, they are impressed with the concern of the health center personnel.

How does WIC operate? The staff at Elba is quick to respond to all pregnant women, nursing mothers and children who feel that they have deficiencies that would make them eligible are urged to inquire about the program at the health center.

Women applicants are given an in-depth interview after which they are weighed and given a blood test. If approved, the applicant is given a monthly supply of vouchers. Each of them is dated to prevent buying ahead.

Children applying for WIC are also given physical examinations which includes blood tests, head measurements, heights and weights. Miss Hughes also compiles a history of their health problems which includes diseases they have had.

Children from one to five years of age are allotted the same amount of food as pregnant women and nursing mothers.

A mother is eligible for special foods until six months after the birth of her child. If she breast feeds the child, she is eligible for an additional six months.

Dr. Wells feels that from one to two years is not sufficient time to make an accurate assessment of the WIC program, but he is confident that the good effects of WIC will be in evidence for many years to come. Brain cells, he points out, develop to 75% before the birth of the baby and the remainder from six to nine months. Consequently, a large percentage of retardation among children can be prevented by proper diets.

Both he and Ball felt that of the greatest benefits of the WIC program is attracting women to health centers, winning their confidence and educating them on the value of health care.

This includes, he said, good nutrition, family planning, and simple good health habits.

Both Ball and Mrs. Edwards are natives of Alabama. Ball was trained in Geneva County and received his degree in Science of Environmental Sanitation from Troy University.

Mrs. Edwards is a native of Huntsville and has spent her life in public health. She once served with the Ethiopian Children's Nutrition Institute in Addis Ababa. It was here that she saw at first hand the devastating effects of malnutrition.

Mrs. Anne Edwards, coordinator of WIC programs in Geneva and Coffee Counties, look at nutrition posters on bulletin board.

THANK YOU

I have worked hard during this campaign for the Elba City Council and appreciate the fact that you honored me with a heavy vote of confidence.

This makes me feel that you share my beliefs on the needs of our community. I need your continued support on September 14.

Again, if you elect me to serve you at City Hall, you four years of working to solve the problems of our city government.

Elba Band Returns From Summer Clinic

The Elba Marching Tiger Band returned to Elba Saturday afternoon, August 14th after a very productive week of band camp at Livingston University. Each day began when band members were awakened by chaperones at 5:00 a.m. They reported to the practice field at 6:00 a.m. and worked until 7:00. Breakfast was served from 7:00 until 8:00 then the group reported to the practice field where they again worked from 8:00 until 12:00 with a short mid-morning break. Lunch was served and then the group was off to the music room where they worked until approximately 2:30.

Free time was given from 2:30 until 4:45. Swimming, tennis and ping-pong were available but most band members chose to go to those nice air conditioned rooms and rest. Supper was served at 4:45 and rehearsals began again at 6:00 on the practice field. From 8:30 until 10:00 the group was in the music room working on music then back to the dorms for baths and "lights out" at 11:15.

This schedule varied on Friday night when practice was cut short and the band was given a pool party and allowed to use recreation facilities in the University's Student Union.

Maxwell Named Assistant Band Director

Brian Maxwell has been recently added to the staff of Elba High School as assistant band director. Mr. Maxwell comes to Elba from Taylorsville, Miss. where he served as band director. His hometown is East Palestine, Ohio. Mr. Maxwell is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi with a Bachelor of Music Education Degree. He was a member of Southern's Marching Band and Symphonic Band for four years. He served as percussion section leader for two years with the USM Marching Band and one year with their Symphonic Band. Mr. Maxwell was a member of Kappa Kappa Psi Fraternity for four years. He was a member of the University Activities Council. He currently holds membership with the Percussive Arts Society and National Education Association.

Members of the Elba High School Marching Tiger Band attended a pre-season band clinic on the West Alabama campus of Livingston University. Section leaders and band directors at Elba High

Dickinson Talks To Supporters

Congressman Bill Dickinson spoke to members of the Coffee County chapter of the 2nd District Congressional Club in an Entenrie restaurant last week. He gave the members a report on pending legislation in Washington and answered questions from the group.

Approximately twenty people from Elba attended the event. Dickinson pointed out that the Coffee County chapter is the largest club in the 2nd congressional district, surpassing Montgomery County by two members.

Champion Tells Rotary Of Athletic Plans

Elba Athletic Director and football coach Mac Champion was the guest speaker at the Elba Rotary Club on Monday of this week. Champion presented by Rotarian Elmer Taylor.

Champion told the group some of his long range dreams for the Elba and reported on the status of the football program for the season which begins August 27. He noted that the 1976 Elba squad is the smallest in number and in size he has coached in his seventeen years of coaching. Champion noted that there is not a boy on the team that weighs over 200 pounds and including the injured only thirty boys are on the roster. Yet Champion expressed confidence that "we are going to surprise some folks."

OPERATION SANTA NEEDS MORE TOYS

The Pilot Club and police department are beginning to make preparations for the 1976 Operation Santa Claus. If anyone has any toys, they should be brought by the police station. Any type of toys, good or broken, will be appreciated.

for new doctors has become quite positive in parts of the country during the last several years.

Dr. Boyce is expected to arrive in Elba during the latter part of September.

Fire Plugs-Pressure Tackled By W&E Board

The Elba Water and Electric Board gave a favorable nod to a proposal by water manager Don Weeks on a $10,000 improvement project. Weeks completed a report requested by the board several weeks ago on the need for additional fire plugs and the need for increased water pressure in several areas of town.

The board gave unanimous approval to plans to add ten fire plugs in critical areas and to construct 1,200 feet of water line to increase water pressure to residents of Seminole Avenue. The board had previously approved a project to increase pressure on Smith Avenue.

Areas to get additional plugs costing a total of $1,300 for the plugs and pipe alone are: Smith Avenue, Old Samson Road, Middle School, Kinston Highway and in Brookdale. Included in this will be 2,400 feet of pipe to be used in the Middle School area and 2,100 feet of pipe in the Kinston Highway area (behind Free's Store).

Weeks estimated it would take about four months for existing crews to complete this work and other normal repairs. In other business the board approved having two men on hand by for repairs instead of the present one man. This was as a safety factor in case one man got into trouble, the other could help or summons help.

The policy of who was to pay for a service man's charges if a user called one and found the trouble was that of the utility department was discussed. A report will be made.

Big Bobcat Caught Killing Chickens

J. B. Mills is shown holding a large female bobcat that has been catching his chickens lately. Mills set a trap, baited with a live chicken and after one unsuccessful try, rebaited the trap and snared this lean and lanky chicken thief.
